GETTING MILITARY-STYLE ASSAULT WEAPONS OFF OUR STREETS AND OUT OF OUR SCHOOLS
Confronting Assault Weapons in Society

Seventeen years have passed since the federal Assault Weapons Ban on military-style firearms expired in 2004. Since then, more than 900 people have been killed and more than 1,600 injured by these weapons.

Towns like Parkland, Las Vegas, Newtown, Aurora and San Bernardino and are now known for the mass shootings that shocked the nation. Mass murders in these towns and others across America demonstrate all too clearly the need to regulate deadly assault weapons and high-capacity ammunition magazines.

On March 11, 2021, we introduced a new Assault Weapons Ban of 2021. This legislation, stronger than the 1994 bill, has two primary goals:

- First, halt the sale, manufacture, transfer and importation of 205 of the most commonly-owned military-style assault weapons and ban an additional group of assault weapons that are particularly lethal because they don't have a fixed ammunition magazine and have one or more military characteristics.

- Second, ban large-capacity magazines and other ammunition feeding devices that hold more than 10 rounds of ammunition. These devices allow shooters to fire numerous rounds in rapid succession without having to reload.

We firmly believe that weapons designed for war have no place on the streets of a civilized society. We must enforce existing law and enact commonsense measures to stop the proliferation of military-style assault weapons while protecting the rights of law-abiding citizens who use guns for hunting, household defense or legitimate recreational purposes.

This is critical if we are to make the streets of America safer. Please learn more about this issue and get involved.

Sincerely,

Dianne Feinstein
United States Senator
Recent mass shootings have revived demands for meaningful gun control. But many opponents of a renewed federal ban on assault weapons, led by the National Rifle Association, say the earlier ban, from 1994 to 2004, made no difference. Our new research shows otherwise.

We found that public mass shootings—which we defined as incidents in which a gunman killed at least six people in public—dropped during the decade of the federal ban. Yet, in the 15 years since the ban ended, the trajectory of gun massacres has been sharply upward, largely tracking the growth in ownership of military-style weapons and high-capacity magazines.

Using the Mother Jones mass shooting database, we identified the number of gun massacres over a 35-year period. (And following the F.B.I.’s approach, we excluded crimes of armed robbery and gang or domestic violence in evaluating public active shooter incidents.) Compared with the decade before its adoption, the federal assault weapon ban in effect from September 1994 through 2004 was associated with a 25 percent drop in gun massacres (from eight to six) and a 40 percent drop in fatalities (from 81 to 49).

This decline is plausible because assault weapons are semiautomatic firearms designed for rapid fire and combat use, and large-capacity magazines increase the number of rounds that can be fired without reloading. While the gun lobby prevented the ban from being as effective as it could have been and saddled the law with a 10-year sunset provision, the ban did impede the easy access to the type of lethal weaponry that those intent on mass killing have readily available in most of the country today. (Assault weapons are legal in 43 states; large-capacity magazines, commonly understood as ammunition-feeding devices holding more than 10 rounds, are legal in 41.)

Indeed, the number of gun-massacre fatalities in the past five years alone has already topped the previous high for the decade after the ban was lifted. If we continue at the post-2014 pace, by 2024 we will have had more than 10 times as many gun massacre deaths in that 10-year period as we had during the decade of the federal assault weapons ban.

Similarly, fatalities per shooting incident fell during the assault weapon ban and have risen sharply since. With increasingly potent and readily available weaponry, the average number of people who die in a gun massacre has increased by 81 percent in just five years. Assault weapons were used in at least 11 of the 15 gun massacres since 2014; at least 234 of the 271 people who died in gun massacres since 2014 were killed by weapons prohibited under the federal assault weapons ban…

There is no reason to think that this ghastly trend will abate without concerted government effort. We should enact a comprehensive federal assault weapons ban and limit on high-capacity magazines, repeal the federal immunity statute and create a more comprehensive and effective background check and red-flag system to ensure that the growing power of advanced weaponry is not readily available to dangerous individuals.

Senator Dianne Feinstein of California, pivotal in getting the first ban through Congress, is among the many Democrats—both presidential candidates and on Capitol Hill—who are pressing to reinstate it or enact a new one. Strong majorities of Americans favor such a ban.

But President Trump and Republicans, who hold the majority in the Senate, strongly oppose this. And the N.R.A. has initiated lawsuits across the country to overturn existing state bans on assault weapons and high-capacity magazines. It also wants the Supreme Court—enriched by two Trump appointees—to effectively end all serious gun safety measures by infringing an extreme interpretation of the Second Amendment.

The Supreme Court should heed the words of the conservative Reagan appointee Judge J. Harvie Wilkinson when the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit voted to uphold the Maryland assault weapons ban.
“To say in the wake of so many mass shootings in so many localities across this country that the people themselves are now to be rendered newly powerless, that all they can do is stand by and watch as federal courts design their destiny—this would deliver a body blow to democracy.”

The extraordinary increase in the body count from public gun massacres since the end of the federal assault weapons ban and the passage of the federal immunity statute for the gun industry has one obvious explanation: the brazen promotion and the proliferating, loosely regulated, highly profitable sales of the most desirable and effective weaponry for committing mass murder.

While there are certainly considerable political risks in pursuing gun safety measures, if the goal is to save lives, it is time to turn in earnest to the task generations of graduating law students have been directed to undertake: “the shaping and application of those wise restraints that make men free.”

When a gunman walked into Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School on Feb. 14, he was carrying an AR-15-style rifle that allowed him to fire upon people in much the same way that many American soldiers and Marines would fire their M16 and M4 rifles in combat.

Since 2007, at least 173 people have been killed in mass shootings in the United States involving AR-15s, according to a New York Times analysis. The grim list includes crimes in Newtown, Conn.; Las Vegas; San Bernardino, Calif.; and now Parkland, Fla.

The main functional difference between the military’s M16 and M4 rifles and a civilian AR-15 is the “burst” mode on many military models, which allow three rounds to be fired with one trigger pull. Some military versions of the rifles have a full automatic feature, which fires until the trigger is released or a magazine is empty of ammunition.

But in actual American combat these technical differences are less significant than they seem. For decades the American military has trained its conventional troops to fire their M4s and M16s in the semiautomatic mode — one bullet per trigger pull — instead of on “burst” or automatic in almost all shooting situations. The weapons are more accurate this way, and thus more lethal.

The National Rifle Association and other pro-gun groups highlight the fully automatic feature in military M4s and M16s. But the American military, after a long experience with fully automatic M16s reaching back to Vietnam, decided by the 1980s to issue M16s, and later M4s, to most conventional troops without the fully automatic function, and to train them to fire in a more controlled fashion.

What all of this means is that the Parkland gunman, in practical terms, had the same rifle firepower as an American grunt using a standard infantry rifle in the standard way.

Representative Brian Mast of Florida, a Republican and an Army combat veteran, has called for a ban on the sale of AR-15-style rifles.

“They are the Formula One cars of guns, designed to kill as many people as quickly and efficiently as possible,” Mr. Plenzler said, referring to AR-15-style rifles. “We are seeing battlefield-level casualties because we are allowing those weapons on our street,” he said.

Like the military’s M4s and M16s, civilian AR-15s are fed with box magazines — the standard magazine holds 30 rounds, or cartridges — that can be swapped out quickly, allowing a gunman to fire more than a hundred rounds in minutes. That is what the police described the Parkland gunman as having done. In many states, civilians can buy magazines that hold many more rounds, including 60- and 100-round versions.

A New York Times analysis of a video from a Florida classroom estimates that during his crime the gunman fired his AR-15 as quickly as one-and-a-half rounds per second. The military trains soldiers to fire at a sustained rate of 12 to 15 rounds per minute, or a round every four or five seconds. The small-caliber, high-velocity rounds used in the military rifles are identical to those sold for the civilian weapons. They have been documented inflicting grievous bone and soft-tissue wounds. Both civilian and military models of the rifle are lightweight and have very little recoil.
A federal ban on the manufacture of certain rifles deemed to be “assault weapons” took effect in 1994, and the list of covered rifles included the AR-15.
Since the ban expired in 2004, the number of rifles manufactured in the United States increased three-fold to four million in 2013. That was one year after a gunman killed his mother and then 26 others at Sandy Hook Elementary School in Newtown, Conn.

As I opened the CT scan last week to read the next case, I was baffled. The history simply read “gunshot wound.” I have been a radiologist in one of the busiest trauma centers in the United States for 13 years, and have diagnosed thousands of handgun injuries to the brain, lung, liver, spleen, bowel, and other vital organs. I thought that I knew all that I needed to know about gunshot wounds, but the specific pattern of injury on my computer screen was one that I had seen only once before.

Routine handgun injuries leave entry and exit wounds and linear tracks through the victim’s body that are roughly the size of the bullet. If the bullet does not directly hit something crucial like the heart or the aorta, and the victim does not bleed to death before being transported to our care at the trauma center, chances are that we can save him.

The bullets fired by an AR-15 are different: They travel at a higher velocity and are far more lethal than routine bullets fired from a handgun. The damage they cause is a function of the energy they impart as they pass through the body. A typical AR-15 bullet leaves the barrel traveling almost three times faster than—and imparting more than three times the energy of—a typical 9mm bullet from a handgun. An AR-15 rifle outfitted with a magazine with 50 rounds allows many more lethal bullets to be delivered quickly without reloading.

I have seen a handful of AR-15 injuries in my career. Years ago I saw one from a man shot in the back by a swat team. The injury along the path of the bullet from an AR-15 is vastly different from a low-velocity handgun injury. The bullet from an AR-15 passes through the body like a cigarette boat traveling at maximum speed through a tiny canal. The tissue next to the bullet is elastic—moving away from the bullet like waves of water displaced by the boat—and then returns and settles back. This process is called cavitation; it leaves the displaced tissue damaged or killed. The high-velocity bullet causes a swath of tissue damage that extends several inches from its path. It does not have to actually hit an artery to damage it and cause catastrophic bleeding. Exit wounds can be the size of an orange.
With an AR-15, the shooter does not have to be particularly accurate. The victim does not have to be unlucky. If a victim takes a direct hit to the liver from an AR-15, the damage is far graver than that of a simple handgun-shot injury. Handgun injuries to the liver are generally survivable unless the bullet hits the main blood supply to the liver. An AR-15 bullet wound to the middle of the liver would cause so much bleeding that the patient would likely never make it to the trauma center to receive our care.

What the Assault Weapons Ban of 2021 Does

Assault Weapons - Bans the sale, transfer, manufacture and importation of:

- 205 specifically-named weapons including the Bushmaster, Smith & Wesson M&P15, AK-47, Streetsweeper and others (list begins on page 14);
- All semiautomatic rifles and handguns that don't have a fixed magazine and have at least one military feature;
- All semiautomatic rifles and handguns that have a fixed magazine with the capacity to accept more than 10 rounds or are belt fed;
- All semiautomatic shotguns that have a detachable magazine, revolving cylinder, fixed magazine capable of accepting more than 5 rounds or at least one military feature.

Aftermarket Modifications and Workarounds - Bans:

- Bump or slide fire stocks, which are modified stocks that allow semi-automatic weapons to fire at rates similar to fully automatic machine guns.
- So-called “bullet buttons” that allow the rapid replacement of ammunition magazines, frequently used as a workaround to prohibitions on detachable magazines.
- Thumbhole or Thorsden-Type stocks, a type of stock that was created as a workaround to avoid prohibitions on pistol grips.

Weapons Excluded from the Bill - Protects the Following Weapons:

- Any weapon that is lawfully possessed at the date of the bill’s enactment;
- 2,258 legitimate hunting and sporting rifles and shotguns are excluded from the bill by specific make and model;
- Any gun manually operated by a bolt, pump, lever or slide-fire;
- Semiautomatic assault weapons used by military, law enforcement and retired law enforcement; and
- Antique weapons.

What is an assault weapon?

- Any semiautomatic rifle or handgun that doesn't have a fixed magazine and has at least one military feature.
- Any semiautomatic rifle or handgun with a fixed magazine that accepts more than 10 rounds.
- Any semiautomatic shotgun with one of the following characteristics: detachable magazine, revolving cylinder, fixed magazine that accepts more than 5 rounds or at least one military feature.
- Any belt-fed semiautomatic firearm.
Requiring background checks on assault weapon transfers

The Assault Weapons Ban only prohibits assault weapons not yet manufactured. However, an estimated 18 million to 35 million assault weapons have already been legally manufactured.

A 2017 study conducted by Harvard University and Northeastern University determined that at least 1 in every 5 gun owners in the United States obtained a firearm without a background check. Twenty-eight states currently do not require a background check to be completed for private gun sales.

The Assault Weapon Ban closes these dangerous loopholes by requiring background checks on all transfers of assault weapons covered by the legislation including sale, trade, gift, etc.

Safeguarding existing weapons and high-capacity magazines

The Assault Weapons Ban requires that grandfathered assault weapons be stored safely using a secure gun storage or safety device to keep them away from criminals and the mentally ill. The bill also prohibits the sale or transfer of high-capacity ammunition feeding devices that are currently in existence.

Stopping “copycat” guns

The bill bans all semiautomatic assault weapons that do not have a fixed magazine and have one or more military characteristics. Those military characteristics are:

RIFFLES
- Pistol grip
- Forward grip
- Folding, telescoping or detachable stock
- Grenade
- Barrel shroud
- Threaded barrel

PISTOLS
- Threaded barrel
- Second pistol grip
- Barrel shroud
- Detachable magazine capacity outside of the pistol grip
- Semiautomatic version of an automatic firearm

SHOTGUNS
- Folding, telescoping or detachable stock
- Pistol grip
- Fixed magazine capacity greater than five rounds
- Detachable magazine capacity
- Forward grip
- Grenade launcher

“Sen. Dianne Feinstein again is leading the charge to protect public safety through common-sense gun violence prevention. As a prosecutor, I strongly support her legislation to ban assault weapons—the go-to weapon for mass shooters intent on committing mass carnage. All of us will be safer when assault weapons are banned once more.”

– Los Angeles City Attorney
Michael N. Feuer
Presidents who have supported a ban on assault weapons

- President Joe Biden as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee ushered passage of the 1994 ban and after taking office in 2021 called for its reinstatement.

- President Barack Obama called for reinstatement of the ban as part of his plan to reduce gun violence announced on January 16, 2013.

- President George W. Bush supported the ban. At an October 2004 presidential debate, he said, “We ought to extend the assault weapons ban.”

- 2012 Republican presidential nominee Mitt Romney signed an assault weapons ban into law as governor of Massachusetts.

The following letter was sent to the House of Representatives by Presidents Ford, Carter and Reagan supporting a ban on military-style assault weapons:

May 3, 1994

To Members of the U.S. House of Representatives:

We are writing to urge your support for a ban on the domestic manufacture of military-style assault weapons. This is a matter of vital importance to the public safety. Although assault weapons account for less than 1% of the guns in circulation, they account for nearly 10% of the guns traced to crime.

Every major law enforcement organization in America and dozens of leading labor, medical, religious, civil rights and civic groups support such a ban. Most importantly, poll after poll shows that the American public overwhelmingly support a ban on assault weapons. A 1993 CNN/USA Today/Gallup Poll found that 77% of Americans support a ban on the manufacture, sale, and possession of semi-automatic assault guns, such as the AK-47.

The 1989 import ban resulted in an impressive 40% drop in imported assault weapons traced to crime between 1989 and 1991, but the killing continues. Last year, a killer armed with two TEC9s killed eight people at a San Francisco law firm and wounded several others. During the past five years, more than 40 law enforcement officers have been killed or wounded in the line of duty by an assault weapon.

While we recognize that assault weapon legislation will not stop all assault weapon crime, statistics prove that we can dry up the supply of these guns, making them less accessible to criminals. We urge you to listen to the American public and to the law enforcement community and support a ban on the further manufacture of these weapons.

Sincerely,

Gerald R. Ford  Jimmy Carter  Ronald Reagan
High-Capacity Magazines

- The Assault Weapons Ban of 2021 bans the sale, transfer, manufacture and importation of all ammunition feeding devices (magazines, strips and drums) capable of accepting more than 10 rounds.

- The gunman in the 2019 Dayton shooting used a 100-round magazine to fire at least 41 rounds in just 32 seconds. In less than a minute, he shot 26 people, nine of whom died.

- According to an NPR/PBS/Marist poll, two-thirds of Americans support banning high-capacity magazines.

- High-capacity magazines allow gunmen to fire as many as 100 rounds without having to stop to reload.
Assault weapons and high-capacity magazines destroy families, communities

Since the Assault Weapons Ban expired in 2004, hundreds of people have been killed and thousands have been injured by military-style assault weapons. Below are just a few recent examples of the horrible acts that have been committed:

- Dayton, Ohio—On August 4, 2019, a gunman with a history of disturbing behavior used an AR-15-style weapon equipped with a 100-round ammunition magazine to kill nine people and injure over 25 others in less than 30 seconds at a local bar.

- El Paso, Texas—On August 3, 2019, an attacker motivated by hatred toward immigrants and armed with an AK-47-style weapon killed 22 innocent people while they were shopping at a local Walmart.

- Gilroy, Calif.—On July 28, 2019, a gunman armed with an AK-47-style weapon attacked the Gilroy Garlic Festival, wounding 17 and killing three innocent victims, including a 13-year-old girl and 6-year-old Stephen Romero.

- Thousand Oaks, Calif.—On November 7, 2018 a gunman with a history of violent behavior armed with a Glock 21 .45-caliber pistol and several high-capacity ammunition magazines carried out an attack on the Borderline Bar & Grill that left 12 innocent people dead, including college students and veterans.

- Pittsburgh, Pa.—On October 27, 2018 a shooter armed with an AR-15-style weapon attacked the Tree of Life Synagogue during religious services, killing 11 worshipers and wounding several others. This was the deadliest anti-Semitic attack committed against the Jewish community in America.

- Parkland, Fla.—On February 14, 2018, a 19-year-old former student uses an M&P15 AR-15 military style rifle to murder 17 students and educators and wounds many others during an attack at the Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School.

- Sutherland Springs, Texas—On November 6, 2017, an Assailant with a history of criminal charges for domestic violence uses a Ruger AR-556 Rifle to murder 26 innocent churchgoers and wound nearly 20 others at the First Baptist Church. The victims included multiple children and ranged in ages from 18 months to 77 years old.

- Las Vegas, Nev.—On October 1, 2017: A shooter armed with more than 20 assault style weapons and 12 bump-fire stocks fires from hotel room to kill 58 people and wound over 500 others at the Route 91 Harvest Country Music Festival. This was the deadliest shooting in American history.

- Orlando, Fla.—On June 12, 2016 a shooter used a Sig Sauer MCX assault rifle to kill 49 innocent victims and wound 58 at an LGBT nightclub. This hate crime and terror attack was the deadliest incident of violence against LGBT people in our nation’s history.

- Wilkinsburg, Pa.—On March 9, 2016 two shooters ambushed an outdoor house party using an AK-47 style weapon to kill 6 victims, including a pregnant woman, and wound several others.

“I have dedicated the rest of my life to fighting for the cause of gun safety. I will not stop. No other parent should ever go through what my family and 16 other families are going through.”

—Fred Guttenberg, father of Jaime Guttenberg, killed in Parkland shooting
Assault weapons and high-capacity magazines destroy families, communities

- San Bernardino, Calif. — On December 2, 2015 two shooters motivated by terrorists used AR-15 style weapons to murder 14 and wound more than 20 others during a work event at the Inland Regional Center.

- Chattanooga, Tenn. — On July 16, 2015 a gunman motivated by foreign terrorists attacked U.S. Navy Reserve installation and military recruiting center with AK-47 style weapon. Four marines and one sailor were killed in the attack and several others were injured.

- Newtown, Conn. — On December 14, 2012, 26 people were killed, including 20 children, when a gunman opened fire at Sandy Hook Elementary School. The gunman was armed with a Bushmaster semiautomatic assault rifle and other firearms.

He used a Smith & Wesson M&P15 semiautomatic assault-style rifle and other firearms. The assault rifle was fed by a 100-round ammunition drum. Had the drum not malfunctioned after 30 rounds had been fired, the shooter would likely have caused even more carnage.

- Tuscaloosa, Ala. — On July 7, 2012, 17 people were injured in a shooting at a bar. The gunman used an AK-47 assault rifle.

- Cupertino, Calif. — On October 6, 2011, three people were killed and seven injured when a disgruntled employee opened fire at a cement plant. The gunman was armed with an AK-47 assault rifle and other firearms.

“Military-bred semiautomatic assault weapons and ultra-high capacity ammunition magazines now define a U.S. civilian gun market where virtually anyone can acquire the lethal firepower necessary to carry out mass shootings. Senator Feinstein’s bill is crucial to ratcheting down the firepower in civilian hands to help make all of us safer in our schools, movie theaters, shopping malls, restaurants, and every other public space vulnerable to such attacks.”

- Violence Policy Center Executive Director
  Josh Sugarmann

“Assault Weapons have become the weapon of choice for mass shooters, illustrated by their use in the high profile mass shootings and recently in shootings in Boulder and Indianapolis. These weapons of war are intended to do one thing—kill as many people in as short an amount of time as possible. Their features are designed to maximize lethality, to shatter the inside of a human body. We thank Senator Feinstein for her continued leadership on this critical issue.”

- Coalition to Stop Gun Violence

“I support the following: Defining what constitutes an assault or tactical firearm and not allowing them for future purchase — just as we already prohibit the purchase of fully automatic firearms. The exact definition of assault weapon will need to be determined. But we should all be able to agree that the civilian version of the very deadly weapon that the Army issued to me should certainly qualify.”

—Representative Brian Mast (R-Fla.) in New York Times, February 23, 2018

“Look, I think the assault weapons ban in the commonwealth of Massachusetts, based on all the data that's available, has served this commonwealth well, and I think it would be appropriate at this point for the federal government to adopt something similar.”

—Governor Charlie Baker (R-Mass.) to reporters on February 28, 2018

Assault weapon bans have a record of success

In the years following the enactment of the 1994 ban, the number of crimes that involved assault weapons dropped:

- The use of assault weapons in crime declined by 70% nine years after the 1994 Assault Weapons Ban took effect, according to a study conducted for the Justice Department.

- While the primary goal of the ban was to reduce the frequency and deadliness of mass shootings, an October 2017 study in the Journal of Urban Health found that law enforcement recovery of assault weapons in cities nationwide fell while the ban was in place—indicating they were used in fewer crimes—but increased after the ban expired. In Boston, for example, 72 percent fewer assault weapons were recovered by police while the ban was in effect.

- When Maryland imposed a more stringent ban on assault pistols and high-capacity magazines in 1994, it led to a 55% drop in assault pistols recovered by the Baltimore Police Department.

How to help

- Call or write your representatives and senators and urge them to cosponsor the bill. You can reach them by phone at 202-224-3121.

- Write letters to the editor of your local newspaper to make others aware of the need to ban military-style assault weapons and high-capacity ammunition magazines.

- Ask your local district attorney, police chief, sheriff and state attorney general for their formal endorsement of the legislation.
